“Whistl provides the best communication and the fastest transportation solutions”

Living beauty inc. connect brands, retailers, professionals and people. They build meaningful relationships with those who believe that a great product should trigger an intimate, emotional moment every time you use it.

They were seeking an alternative supplier who could offer cost savings and efficient deliveries. Whistl started working with Living beauty inc in December 2022, managing their international parcel deliveries, and began handling their customs clearance in January 2023.

Aili Tao, Director of Operations at Living Beauty Inc, talks about the service provided by Whistl:

“The shipments our previous suppliers used to take one, sometimes even two weeks to arrive, occasionally arriving damaged. However, since Whistl took over, the transportation time has been shortened by 50%, and the products are now delivered safely. As a result, the products are available for sale much faster than before.”

“

Working with Whistl has been an exceptional experience, right from the initial set-up and implementation to their ongoing customer service and aftercare. They have brought immense value to our business through their reliable and efficient services.

During the set-up, Whistl worked closely with us to understand our specific requirements and tailor their services accordingly. The seamlessly integrated their transportation and logistics solutions into our existing systems, demonstrated professionalism and expertise.

The team is always responsive, prompt and proactive in addressing any concerns we may have. They have not only provided reliable and efficient transportation solutions but have also demonstrated a strong commitment to our success.
